

INTRODUCING OUR NEW DEAN

» JEROLD HALE will assume the position of dean of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences on July 1. Hale comes to the College from the University of Michigan-Dearborn where he was dean of the College of Arts, Science and Letters.

THE POWER OF POETRY

Eleven high school students recited poetry at the South Carolina Region 3 Poetry Out Loud competition. The event was hosted by the English department and the School of Humanities and Social Sciences.

VIVA TRUJILLO!

Interested in learning the Spanish language and culture while getting credit for courses in communication and political science this upcoming fall semester? If so, you can get more information here and on the Trujillo blog - a forum that has allowed students to write about their experiences as they were studying in Trujillo, Spain.

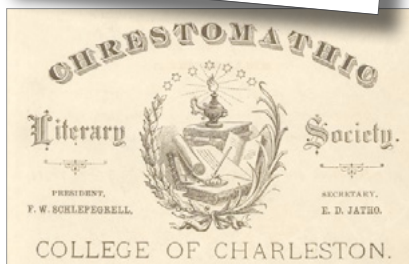

Originally written in 1711 by the late André João Antonil, Brazil at the Dawn of the Eighteenth Century has recently been translated from Portuguese to English (for the first time) by Department of History Professor Timothy Coates.

MEN'S BASKETBALL NIGHT

The College of Charleston men's basketball team played Appalachian State in January and HSS was there to celebrate the win - 72-59! There were a number of donors, alumni, faculty and staff in the president's box. President and first lady George and Jane Benson made an appearance and posed for pictures. Check them out!

« GO COUGS!!!!

RESEARCH IN PRINT

Chrestomathy is the College of Charleston's journal for outstanding undergraduate research in the humanities and social sciences.

Jointly published by the School of Humanities and Social Sciences and the School of Languages, Cultures and World Affairs, each program competitively selects one paper per year to appear in the journal. Take a look at what our students have accomplished.

»» SPOTLIGHT

■ HSS RESEARCH SERIES ON THE BLOG:

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences dedicated the entire month of November to student research. The series was very successful and featured students in English (Victor Imko), religious studies (Rachel Davis), history (Seth Clare), psychology (S. Bradley King; Evan Reinhold; Brittany Counts; Liana McNallan), women's and gender studies (Ashley Maggio), communication (Georgia Schrubbe; Thomas Werner; Helen Claire Beading), anthropology (Eva Falls; Jeremy Miller), and political science (Mallen Urso; Miriam Kavalerschik). Be sure to check out the various topics - from digs at Dixie Plantation to fast food and coffee shop marketing practices - our majors have been doing some interesting research!

Not to be out-done by our students, our faculty showcased their research through our Faculty Research Series. Jen Wright (psychology), Rich Bodek (history), John Bruns (English), Thomas Nadelhoffer (philosophy), Kevin Keenan (political science), Christian Coseru (philosophy)

■ UPCOMING EVENTS

»» MARCH (partial list)

- 20 - Career and Internship Fair
- 22-23 - Accepted Student Weekend
- 27 - ExCEL Awards

»» APRIL

- 3 - Holy Sh*t, I'm Awesome

»» MAY (COMMENCEMENT)

- 11 - School of Humanities and Social Sciences (4 P.M.)

CONNECT WITH US!

FACEBOOK • TWITTER • BLOG HOMEPAGE
HSS HOMEPAGE • LINKEDIN

SHOW YOUR SUPPORT!

THE DEAN'S FUND supports the development of student-faculty research, faculty fieldwork, travel to archives and new course development, as well as more recent initiatives including the writing focus, interdisciplinary programs and international experience and education. Please take a moment to visit the individual departments and programs that make up the School of Humanities and Social Sciences to discover more about our exceptional students and faculty, and the impact of private giving.